Fully Online Spring 2026
Dr. Glenn Hutchinson

Fulfills requirements in
Writing and Rhetoric

What careers are you considering after graduation? Are you thinking about graduate school? In this online course, we will connect the learning we've done in college with our career goals. We will reflect upon our educational journeys, articulating the specialized skills and experiences we've developed inside and outside the classroom. We'll research careers of interest and graduate school options, identifying the skills required to succeed in them and making plans for developing those skills. We'll develop a professional portfolio of writing showcasing our work. And we'll have fun!
