

LIT 3930 Representations of Evil from Satan to Psychopath

Coming Spring 2021!
Dr. Kenneth Johnson

Fulfills: Exile Studies Certificate and Elective Requirement

This course examines Western European representations of evil in selected Biblical, theological, sociological, and literary works, using three frames-of-reference or world views of theology, existentialism, and post-structuralism. We will explore how the concept of evil becomes a means of making sense of human suffering. Evil is a broad and complex concept that exists within moral frames-of-reference that dominate various historical periods.

Are you tempted?