

Florida International University
Department of Psychology
Undergraduate Applied Behavior Analysis Track Course Sequence

The course sequence below meets the instructional content requirements of the Behavior Analyst Certification Board © (BACB) 6th Edition Test Content Outline (TCO). The courses are open to all students, regardless of major or degree-seeking status. All are usually offered every semester on campus and online, and instructional modalities may be combined. Students who intend to become a Board Certified Assistant Behavior Analysts are urged to read the eligibility requirements and certification process detailed in the BACB BCaBA Handbook. Psychology majors who wish to have Applied Behavior Analysis noted as an area of specialization on their transcript should contact their academic advisor to add the ABA Track to their plan of study.

RECOMMENDED SCHEDULE: The course sequence will take a minimum of 4 semesters to complete and should be taken as shown below. Not taking the sequence as indicated below may result in extending it beyond 4 semesters due to course prerequisites. Students admitted to FIU as freshman should begin the sequence in their sophomore year, and transfer students should begin the sequence in their first semester.
